

D042 EAST RUTHERFORD, 13 NOVEMBER 1999

SOUND Moderate, lightweight

IMAGE See screenshot below (also two others in D042.su review). Thoroughly competent if unspectacular film shot in the same style, from the same relative position and probably by the same hand as D189 (Amherst, five days later).

RUNNING TIME 120 minutes. The show's final song - Not Fade Away - is missing, otherwise complete.

PERFORMANCE Appealing set-list convincingly performed - no complaints. Phil Lesh plays on Alabama Getaway and RDW.

HIGHLIGHTS (1) McTell (2) Not Dark Yet (3) It Ain't Me, Babe

COMMENT Nearly four decades ago, a young unknown with pretensions to be a folk singer travelled these parts to visit with a wasted Woody Guthrie, both in the Greystone Park (Morris Plains) hospital where Guthrie was interned and at the East Orange home of the Gleasons who befriended him. Fitting venue, then, for a tenderly delivered Song To Woody, first self-penned tune of the night (not to mention his career).

THANKS JM

STARS Nice video, poor audio. Don't expect too much of this and you won't be disappointed. Otherwise - more especially if you're picky about what you listen to - steer clear. Three.
